

REMINDERS – COVID 19

What measures are taken by my employer to ensure my health and safety?

The Maritime Employers Association has put in place various measures to avoid the spread of the virus among port employees. They were established after consulting Public Health indications and in collaboration with the Union. The measure are as follows.

What happens when an employee thinks he/she could be positive or was tested positive?

A rigorous contingency management procedure is in place to protect our employees as well as the public, while supporting and maintaining port activities. Read the details here.

What happens when an employee returns to work after confinement ?

A safe return to work is as important as a withdrawal from work when in doubt or when the person tested positive to COVID-19. You can read the return to work policy that we established here.

I have other questions, where can I find more information?
